

RELIEF WORK PROJECTS IN CO. RENEWED

Additional Men Put to Work at Dixon Airport Today

The force of relief workers employed at the Dixon Municipal Airport was increased this morning, bringing the total up to 100 men, not including skilled workers. There were 15 professional and technical workers busy on the extensive improvement at the airport in addition to the 100 laborers. It is reported that this large force is to continue in operation until the airport project is completed which will require several weeks.

At the offices of the County Emergency Relief Administration, County Supervisor J. E. Reagan this morning received the final approval of a number of additional projects which will furnish work for many of Lee county's unemployed. Projects which have received final approval and which will start during the month of July are as follows:

Additional Projects
Dixon—Van Arman park, East River street, to be completed.
Renewal of rail removal project.
Renewal of project for redecorating public schools.

Completion of erection of stone wall at Katherine Shaw Betha hospital grounds.
Oakwood cemetery—Continuation of construction of drives and opening of new section.

Amboy—Improvement of city dump property—replanting of bridges.
Franklin Grove—Street improvement project and sewage system renewed.

Lee Center—High school project renewed. (Work probably to be started this week.)

A project which provides for the improvement of roadways in Amboy township was started this morning, providing employment for 15 relief workers. Another group of 10 men started work today at the Amboy township high school property.

A group of 13 workers were also placed at Lowell Park where they are completing projects started early last winter, the renewal of which was approved a few days ago.

Annual Pilgrimage of Episcopaleans to Old Edifice

Historic St. Peter's Episcopal church in Grand Detour was the goal of the annual pilgrimage of northern Episcopaleans Sunday in observance of the 85th anniversary of the building of the quaint stone church and the 97th anniversary of the Episcopal organization in the village, then an important center.

Members of St. Luke's church joined in the pilgrimage, which was under the direction of Rev. Charles L. Street, headmaster of St. Albans school, Sycamore, and the Dixonites had special pleasure in meeting Rev. Fr. G. Carlton Story, former pastor of St. Luke's church, and now located at the Church of the Mediator, Morgan Park. Fr. Story delivered the sermon of the afternoon.

The church's founder was the late Bishop Philander Chase, who early in his ministry rode horseback into the little town of Grand Detour on Rock river in Ogle county, and confident that here was a town with a future, established St. Peter's church.

"Supreme Court" in Labor Disputes is Set Up in Capital

Washington, July 9—(AP)—A new "Supreme Court" for capital-labor disputes plunged into the task of trying to keep peace between workers and their employers.

Known as the national labor relations board, it succeeded the national labor board. Its three members, Lloyd Garrison, Harry A. Mills and Edwin S. Smith, expected to meet today to outline their policies. Garrison, 37-year-old dean of the University of Wisconsin law school and great grandson of the famous abolitionist, is chairman.

Two Drowned at Meredosia Sunday

Meredosia, Ill., July 9—(AP)—Two persons were drowned and three rescued when a small outboard motorboat capsized in the Illinois river near here Sunday.

Those drowned were Herman Mundis, 37, and Mrs. Eva Fry, both of Bluffs. Mrs. Fry's body has been recovered.

Mt. Morris Girl Hurt at Big Fair

Chicago—(AP)—Three persons, including Irene Edwards of Mt. Morris, Ill., were knocked down and bruised when a cow broke loose at the world's fair, running into a crowd of bystanders. Their injuries were minor, and they were released after emergency treatment at the exposition hospital.

G. O. P. LEADERS MEET TODAY TO PLAN CAMPAIGN

National Chairman is in Chicago to Aid in Organization

Chicago, July 9—(AP)—Republican leaders headed by Henry P. Fletcher, new national chairman, opened a three-day "pep meeting" in Chicago today to drum up congressional votes in the midwest, and to get campaign funds.

Ushered by George F. Getz, national treasurer of the party, Fletcher was to lunch with thirty Chicago and Illinois Republican workers today, and tomorrow will talk politics with Republican business men and bankers, as the guest of Silas Strawn.

Congressman Chester C. Bolton of Ohio, chairman of the congressional campaign committee, declared as he arrived for the conference that the party will win "fifty to sixty" new congressional seats in November and said it would be the chief goal to "stop unconstitutional ways of passing legislation," referring to the adoption of laws under suspension of House rules.

He listed seven "hopeful" states—Illinois, Ohio, Iowa, Michigan, Indiana, Oregon and Washington—in which he predicted "substantial gains" for the Republicans this fall, frowned over Kansas and Missouri, and said the party would elect one new congressman, if not two, in New York.

Fletcher said midwestern headquarters probably would be set up in Chicago, depending on the party's financial success. As for supporting the progressives and so-called "wild Republicans," he said: "All Republicans look alike to me."

The dates for the second annual Dixon Horse Show have been selected by the officers of the association and were announced today by Dr. Z. W. Moss for Saturday and Sunday, August 11 and 12. The show will be staged at the high school athletic field. The cattle and swine exhibits of boys and girls' 4-H clubs of Dixon and vicinity will be housed in tents which will be located west of the grand stand.

The committee in charge of events today called special attention to the pony division of the two day show. Boys and girls desiring to enter ponies in this event are urged to start at once in preparing their entries. The physical condition and general appearance of the animals will be outstanding features in the judging and those planning to enter this section of the show are given this notice in ample time to have their entries in the best of condition to compete for the prizes.

A number of additional features which will assure a much better program than last season and with the prospect for a large list of entries, assure Dixon of a feature attraction next month. Several entries have already been received and with the announcement of this show dates, others are expected to be received in rapid order.

DIXON OFFICERS BUSIER THAN US- UAL ON WEEK END

Several Alleged Law Violators Are Placed Under Arrest

The police department experienced a busy week end, with several alleged law violators coming within the toils of the law. Two who were arrested for intoxication were fined this morning and sent to the county jail. Michael Kreiger, residing south of Dixon, was arrested and charged with drunken driving, his hearing having been continued until July 14. According to reports received by the police early Sunday morning, Kreiger and a companion attempted to drive west on the NorthWestern main line tracks just before the arrival of an east bound passenger train.

Wilbur Martin of this city was arrested Sunday afternoon after a reported exciting experience. Saturday night about 9:30 he was reported to have crashed into a car belonging to Joy Atkinson at the corner of First street and Hennepin avenue, breaking a glass which cut a child on the face, requiring medical attention. He was said to have sped away from the scene, eluding cars which joined in an attempt to halt him. Early Sunday morning, while returning from a road house west of the city on the Lincoln Highway, Martin crashed into a culvert wrecking his car and sustaining cuts and bruises. A charge of leaving the scene of an accident was preferred before Justice Grover Gehant and the hearing continued until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Found Stolen Car
About midnight Saturday Chief Van Bibber and Officer Harry Jones were called to Second street near Highland avenue, where it was reported that a car had been standing since last Thursday. Investigation of the car revealed Rockford address and upon calling the Rockford police department, Chief Van Bibber learned that the car had been stolen in that city last Thursday. The owner, Roy V. Johnson came to Dixon Sunday afternoon and reclaimed his property. He told local police that he suspected a resident of Rockford of having taken the car and called upon the suspect at his home, where he secured a confession of the theft and turned the man over to the Rockford police.

Lawrence Cramer of this city reported to the police several days ago the theft of a tire from his car. While fishing in Rock river yesterday, he discovered the stolen tire on another car and informed the police. The owner of the car when questioned at the police station stated that he had purchased the tire from a strange Negro, but returned the property to its owner.

Board Into Action
In the face of the increasing tension, the longshoremen's board, recently appointed by President Roosevelt invokes its full authority under the new law as it opens public hearings on the dispute between the 27,000 maritime workers and their employers.

The board, headed by Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, will hear the workers' side first with representatives of longshoremen, seamen and allied workers scheduled to appear. They will support the demand which has blocked voluntary mediation efforts of the board—for complete control of hiring halls.

Members of the seven-man committee "of strategy" named by the San Francisco Central Labor Council, while expressing hopes for a settlement, E. D. Vandeleur, chairman of the "strategy" committee, declared: "We are ready to unleash the full strength of organized labor in San Francisco."

Fools Rock Boat: Girl's Life Toll
Round Lake, Ill., July 9—(AP)—A prank, police said, ended in tragedy when a rowboat was upset in Round Lake, in the western part of Lake county, drowning Miss Jean Rydz, 17, Chicago.

With another girl and three male companions, she was on a Sunday school outing yesterday, when the men, police said, began rocking the boat.

It upset, Miss Rydz sinking immediately. An unidentified swimmer rescued Miss Mary Marzes, 12, and the three men, all of Chicago, Edward Lassok, Stanley Cula and Adolph Poterek, clung to the side of the boat until help arrived.

Bullets Fell Strikers in Dock War

Felled by bullets in San Francisco's dock strike, two riot victims are shown here as they lie on the sidewalk, with bystanders ministering to them after the bloody clash had abated. Two men were slain and more than 75 wounded in the savage conflict that raged, with thousands of pickets and sympathizers arrayed against police and national guardsmen, using guns, clubs and tear gas.

GENERAL STRIKE THREAT SPREADS ON WEST COAST

Federal Board Seeks to Effect Settlement Today

San Francisco, July 9—(AP)—Walkout votes by teamsters of San Francisco and Oakland intensified general threats on the Pacific coast today as the national longshoremen's board here brought the new federal labor disputes act to its first test.

The 3700 teamsters of the two San Francisco Bay cities served notice that, unless definite progress is made toward settlement of the maritime strike they will abandon their trucks. Thursday morning, General strike proposals gained impetus at San Francisco, Oakland, Portland and Seattle.

The general strike proposal supported by 15 of San Francisco's 120 trade unions is expected to come before other unions in the next few days. The butchers voted yesterday to leave the question with the Central Labor Council's "strategy" committee.

At Portland, representatives of 80 unions will meet today to formulate plans for a general strike. Gust Anderson, secretary of the central labor council, said. The question will be discussed at Seattle by the northwest maritime strike committee.

14 ADDITIONAL LEE CO. YOUTHS FOR CCC WORKS

Enrollment of 5,581 in State Authorized Today

Chicago, July 9—(AP)—A new quota of 5,581 men will be recruited in Illinois starting July 15 for CCC emergency conservation work.

The additional enrollment was authorized by the department of labor, and Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, said the recruits would be chosen from counties designated as secondary drought areas, but only from cities having 2,500 or more population in the 1930 census. The latter qualification eliminates 20 of the 77 drought counties from the recruiting.

The youths selected must be between 18 and 25 years old. Living expenses and $30 a month are paid, but $25 a month must go to dependents.

Among county quotas are: Lee 14, Boone 10, Bureau 21, Carroll 5, DeKalb 20, DuPage 76, Jo Daviess 11, Kane 124, LaSalle 97, Ogle 12, Rock Island 77, Stephenson 22, Whiteside 25, Winnebago 176.

FIVE PRISONERS SAW WAY OUT OF WOODSTOCK JAIL

McHenry County Officers Follow Cold Trail: Escape Sunday

Woodstock, Ill., July 9—(AP)—Police followed a cold trail today for five prisoners who sawed their way out of the county jail here.

Leaving behind a series of sawed steel bars, cut screens, broken doors and five other prisoners, the men, who were awaiting trial for various offenses, including bank robbery, gained freedom early Sunday morning and were apparently whisked away in an automobile. They are:

John Enos, alias Evans, 31, accused of bank robberies at Huntley and Union.

Charles Taylor, alias Terry, 33, who with his wife Emma was brought back from Oregon last week to be tried for the theft of jewelry from the Crystal Lake home of John Barrett, International Harvester official.

Elsworth Fowler, 26, charged with automobile larceny.

Henry Odinebreit, 42, awaiting trial for check forgery.

Joseph Levoian, 40, indicted for arson.

Enos and Taylor are ex-convicts. Sawed Through Steel
The prisoners first sawed a hole in a steel partition one quarter inch thick between cells to get into the bull pen and to the top of the cell block. Next they cut a wire mesh and picked a lock into an of-mesh. Sawing bars on this door let them to the basement, where they cut the bars and lock away and escaped.

Sheriff Lester Edinger of McHenry county complained that Enos had been on his hands since January without being brought to trial, but State's Attorney Vincent S. Lumley said trial was prevented by the state law which prohibits forcing a defendant who has a state legislator for his lawyer to trial while the legislature is in session.

Enos was represented by Attorney William Carroll of Woodstock, a member of the state legislature, and formerly by Rep. Roland Libonatti of Chicago.

The escape was not discovered for several hours, officials said. McHenry county authorities said today they were seeking a mystery woman who they believed supplied the saws to the prisoners. They also reported four places were under surveillance as possible hiding spots for the escaped men.

Mooseheart Supt. Resigned Today

"Mickey" Norman, Fair, Fat, Nearly Three, Trying to Break the Habit of His Lifetime—Smoking of Any Kind

West Paterson, N. J., July 9—(AP)—Charles "Mickey" Norman, fair, fat and nearly three, is trying to break the habit of a lifetime—smoking.

After two years as a cigar smoker, "Mickey" hopes—because his parents wish it—to be down to a few puffs a day by his third birthday, July 28.

It's not that they think smoking has done "Mickey" any harm. He is healthy, lively and well-behaved. His height is 37 inches, his weight 35 pounds. The average for his age is 37 inches and 32 to 36 pounds.

But since the world first heard a year ago that "Mickey" was a smoker, letters of protest have come by the hundred to the Norman home.

Then, too, since his first experiments with cigars, "Mickey" has broadened his activities to include pipes and cigarettes. It is the cigarettes that his parents object to. Also, since he has started venturing forth into the world, "Mickey" has learned another time-honored habit.

Whenever he returns from a toddle in the neighborhood, he is searched for cigar and cigarette stubs. His parents, his grandmother and his sister, Dorothy, 4, all keep an eye on him.

If they didn't, they never would be able to see "Mickey" for the haze of smoke around him.

Texans Applied for Lodging in Stateville Prison

Joliet, July 9—(AP)—Two men from the south, one with a big cigar in his mouth, strode into the marbled reception room of one of this city's best known buildings. Depositing their luggage in front of the desk they pushed back their multi-gallon hats and announced:

"We want a room and bath for the night. What are your rates?"

This was a new one on Joseph Smith, clerk in charge of the visitors' desk at Stateville prison, but he controlled his emotions and replied:

MILK PRICE
Due to prevailing unusual conditions, it is impractical for the Borden Company to announce in advance the price it will pay for fluid milk delivered and accepted.
Therefore, until further notice, the price for fluid milk will not be announced until after said milk is delivered and accepted. The price will be published within five (5) days after the period for which the company will have heretofore announced the price to advance.
The price for milk delivered in June is $1.30 per cwt for 4 per cent milk, direct ratio.

Quintuplets are Languid: Mother Allowed Outside

Corbett, Ont., July 9—(AP)—Mrs. Ovia Dionne, 24-year-old mother of quintuplets, was allowed by her physician to go outside her home over the week-end but was under orders "to take things easy."
All of the babies except Marie, the smallest, continued to gain weight, but their condition was described as "still languid." They are nearly six weeks old.
The latest weights in ounces were: Cecile 47 1-2; Emilie 44; Annette 54; Yvonne 58 1-2; Marie 40 1-2.

INSULL'S FINAL PLEA IS DENIED: TRIAL SEPT. 18

U. S. Judge Refuses Demand for Bill of Particulars

Chicago, July 9—(AP)—The last technical obstacle to the trial of Samuel Insull for fraudulent use of the mails was wiped away today and Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson ordered the former utilities magnate to trial Sept. 18. Judge Wilkerson refused the defense's final preliminary motion, a request for a bill of particulars of the charges.
Insull and 16 others who directed the short career of Corporation Securities Company are accused of misusing the mails in attracting investors to buy the company's securities.
In overruling the motion for particulars of the charges, Judge Wilkerson upheld the contention of U. S. District Attorney Dwight H. Green that the defense was asking in effect "a complete discovery of the government's case."
Insull and his fellow defendants were not in court, but a half dozen attorneys represented them. The court inquired how long the trial would take.
"I believe it will take six weeks of all-day court sessions for the government to present its case," said Green.

Georgia's Mayors' Irish Up: Meet to Secure Home Rule

Atlanta, July 9—(AP)—Georgia mayors, their Irish up, are banding together to get complete home rule. They had enough they say, of the legislature telling them what to do. They want a divorce from the General Assembly and they'll take alimony too.
Aroused by Mayor James L. Key of Atlanta, the city and town bosses, are coming here Saturday to do something for their constituents.
Mayor "Jim" the Atlanta executive says 125 mayors already have accepted and the attendance will run something like 250. They plan to form the Georgia Mayors' Association.

Children Will be Next Test Tubes in Serum Trials

New York, July 9—(AP)—Children will be the next "test tubes" of the serum experiment against infantile paralysis.
Physicians, after testing the new serum on themselves to show no danger was involved, announced plans today for administering it to a dozen boys and girls, inmates of one of New York's orphanages—if the courts will approve.
The serum is obtained from monkeys which have been inoculated with germs of the disease.

FEWER ON RELIEF Chicago—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission announced the number of families on relief rolls in Illinois dropped 1.1 per cent in June compared with May. In Cook county the number dropped from 127,687 families to 127,676. Downstate showed a rise from 142,351 to 143,862.

DISMISSAL OF INDICTMENTS IS ATTACKED

Grand Jury Foreman in Indiana Hits at Judge's Decree

Hammond, Ind., July 9—(AP)—A thorough inquiry into the recent quashing of indictments against Samuel Insull, Jr., and other officers of the Northern Indiana Public Service Company, was demanded today.
J. M. Asher of Hammond, foreman of the grand jury which returned the indictments, issued a statement last night asserting there was ample evidence upon which to base the indictments, and demanded speedy reindictment of all the defendants.
Special Judge Maurice E. Crites threw out the indictments June 29 on testimony of a juror, Fred Cavender of Lowell, Ind., that Judge William J. Murray of Lake county appeared before the jury while the case was under consideration.
After denying that Judge Murray had "by any word or action influenced" the jurors, Asher inquired information leaked out concerning any appearance the judge may have made before the secret body.

SENATE IS HELD WITHOUT POWER OF SENTENCING

MacCracken's Appeal Upheld by D. C. Appeals Court

Washington, July 9—(AP)—The District of Columbia Court of Appeals today reversed a lower court ruling and held the Senate did not have the power to sentence William J. MacCracken to ten days in jail for contempt in connection with the air mail investigation.
MacCracken, former Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, and L. H. Britton, former vice president of the Northwest Airways, Inc., were found guilty by the Senate February 14 and each were sentenced to ten days in jail. MacCracken's appeal was heard today.
Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue of the District of Columbia Supreme Court later held the Senate had the constitutional right to sentence MacCracken, in connection with disappearance from his office here of airway contract papers that were under subpoena by the Senate.

maintenance and upkeep of her home, and in other matters pertaining to improvements on said farm lands or to the co-partnership transactions and business.
Jane Reynolds Whitthorne claims that Lucile Reynolds Ralston has received money from the sale of various goods but has failed to render an account of the transactions. She adds that there was no fixed term for duration of the co-partnership but that she elected to retire early in July, 1933. At the time, the defendant is alleged to have been in possession of grain, hay and other materials value of which was in excess of $25,000, of which no account was made, the bill asserts.

First Since June 1932

The plaintiff further avers that subsequent to June 1930, actual management of the firm had been handled by the defendant and her husband, John G. Ralston and that she was unfamiliar with the dealings, absents herself from the place after June, 1932.
She alleges that an accounting has never been made, despite her requests, and that the defendant continues to possess properties.

The plaintiff seeks to have the co-partnership dissolved as of July 1933; a general accounting made; property sold, financial obligations met, equal settlement made and a receiver appointed. The declarations read that Jane Reynolds Whitthorne is willing to advance more money, in carrying out the various provisions of the suit if necessary.

The law firm of Henry J. and Charles Aaron, 83 S. Clark street, Chicago, is representing the plaintiff, who is listed as a resident of Manhattan, N. Y.

Tavern Keepers in Court: Face Charge of Sale to Minors

Judge Leach in the county court today issued bench warrants for the arrest of Ray Frazier and Helen Little of the Brown Shingle road house, west of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway, charging them with selling of liquor to minors. Both were ordered to appear in the county court this afternoon for arraignment.

State's Attorney Edward Jones hinted at a new procedure to halt the sale of liquor to minors in Lee county today, when he stated that proprietors of taverns and road houses selling liquor, either beer or whiskey to those under age, would be brought into court on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors. He advised the immediate revocation of licenses to accompany the delinquency action as a means of putting a stop to the practice. It was reported that many complaints have come to the office of the state's attorney concerning alleged liquor violations which have been reported to the Department of Justice from Lee county.

WITHOUT CLUES IN BOMBING OF ILLINOIS MINE

350 Endangered by Explosion at Springfield Saturday

Springfield, Ill., July 9—(AP)—The bombing of another Peabody mine this time endangering 350 coal diggers below, was being investigated today by officials who apparently had no clues to the identity of the band of masked kidnapers and dynamiters.
No arrests have been made since the fan house at Peabody Coal Company's Capital mine No. 57 was demolished by dynamite Saturday afternoon. Damage was estimated at more than $15,000.
The four men who kidnaped the fan house watchman, Jack Lee, and set the dynamite charge, escaped. Lee was released after the blast.

A FRIEND INDEED

If he gives you recognition, when your clothes are patched and torn.
If he comes to see and cheer you when you're lying sick and worn.
If he takes your hand and lifts you up when you're on the downward track.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRLAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
Main Junior-Senior Department of Public Instruction

Summer Vacation

Summer means vacation from school, but not a vacation from parental vigilance. When one type of strain ceases, another begins. Worry over school marks ends, but outdoor activity may suddenly become too strenuous, especially in hot weather.

Frequent rest periods are essential for the young child. Indeed, rest during the day may counteract the restlessness of hot nights.

Bathing takes on new importance. The daily bath is not only health insurance, but a very definite aid to comfort. Sunbathing is no longer a fad. But insist that the first tan be acquired gradually. Severe sunburn can be serious, and long periods of exposure may lead to sunstroke.

Talk quietly to the child about these dangers with a view to winning his cooperation. Insistence and punishment often lead to rebellion. Remember that the food requirements are not changed. Instead, if there is increased activity, larger amounts may be needed. Give the child all you can of the new green vegetables; keep up the full supply of milk; and don't forget the fruits. Though you may lose your appetite in hot weather, the child is usually active. He needs his regular balanced diet.

Dr. Ireland will tell how to choose suitable summer camps next week.

A Frank Opinion

"We were discussing Anne,"

said Martha.

"Then I suppose you don't mind

my being as honest about my opinions as you girls have been. I have a great dislike for gossip, so instead of saying what I think behind your backs I think I will say it now. Martha, I will begin on you. You are lazy and untidy. I would really like you better if you washed your hands and cleaned your nails. Besides you are a snob. I wish you could remember that it was your grandfather who made the money and not you. If Anne's father struck oil maybe he too could pay his bills. My father was deeply in debt when he fell into money.

"And, Laura, it is very ill-bred to talk through an entire movie as you did the other night when you sat in front of us. And Miss

Hayes said it was you who told

Bob Brown the other day when he copied on his algebra examination.

I like Bob. It's too bad.

"Now, Esther, don't look so frightened. Surely the truth will not hurt you. Everyone seems to know it even if you don't.

"The way you treat your mother is shocking. Listen, you can hear little Pat crying now. He has been fretting all day, because your mother has been busy canning and you haven't gone home to see if you could help her. You never help her and she has too much to do. This Anne you can't put up with, not only does half the work at home but she goes over and helps her married sister with her babies, too. Perhaps you don't feel like making an intimate friend of her—she looked around at the three indignities, faces—because after all we have a right to our preferences in people, but that is not any reason for attacking

her. What she does need not concern any of you unless she does something to really hurt you directly."

Curing the Gossips

"Mother how can you?" begged Martha. "I never knew you could talk this way. It doesn't seem like you."

"It doesn't seem like me either," said Laura. "But I have to. I have to tell the truth. I have to tell the truth. I have to tell the truth. I have to tell the truth.

I have to tell the truth. I have to tell the truth. I have to tell

IMAGINE YOUR COUNTRY UNDER HITLER RULE!

To get a real idea of what life under German Fascism is like, use your imagination and transplant the whole business to American soil.

Pretend, that is, that we are laboring under Nazism and that the things that have happened in Germany of late have really happened over here. It may put a strain on your imagination, of course—but try it, and see what you get.

You start by imagining that all political parties but the Democratic party have been forcibly suppressed. Herbert Hoover has been driven into exile; Henry Fletcher runs what is left of the Republican party from a safe haven in Mexico City. Ogden Mills is languishing in Leavenworth; Senator Borah has been shot.

Congress is composed solely of party henchmen picked by Jim Farley; but that makes little difference, for it meets only when Mr. Roosevelt says it may, and it does exactly what he tells it to do.

There won't be any fall elections; if there were, all the voters could be made to make a blanket endorsement of all Democratic candidates, with a flock of Tammany thugs around to beat him up if he refused.

The editor of your favorite newspaper prints an editorial suggesting that the NRA is somewhat less than perfect, and is immediately thrown in jail. You yourself happen to remark that you think General Johnson is a flat tire, and the Department of Justice lugs you off to a concentration camp in Georgia.

No public speaker, no editor, no magazine writer dares to suggest that Mr. Roosevelt is anything but the wisest president we have ever had.

Then, to cap things properly, imagine that the Democrats have had an internal row, and that the president settles it by having Carter Glass, Huey Long, Bernard M. Baruch, and Al Smith executed with only a semblance of a trial.

All this makes a dizzy, nightmarish picture. Yet it is only a pale approximation of the reality in Germany today.

Looking at it like that is a good mental exercise, for two reasons.

First, it demonstrates how far we are—despite the wails of calamity-howlers—from anything resembling a Fascist dictatorship.

Second, it shows how unutterably precious the liberties of a democracy really are. Without them, life becomes grotesque and horrible. Their preservation is the greatest responsibility we can possibly have.

STRIKES ARE ONE FORM OF OUR INDIVIDUALISM.

It is customary, these days, to say that we are having an "epidemic" of strikes. Historians talk learnedly about how labor troubles always accompany a business revival, and economists compute the losses suffered by employers, workers, and the public through such disturbances; but what we all fail to realize is that the whole troubled labor picture is giving us a first-rate object lesson.

For a strike, when you stop to think about it, is nothing more or less than an outbreak of this "individualism" we have been hearing so much about lately.

It stands, that is to say, for the utter lack of any kind of public control over the parties or the industries involved.

To be a little more accurate, it indicates the complete absence of any kind of planning in the particular economy where the strike takes place.

It is a sign that the industry is drifting along with the stream; that both sides are thinking of their problem in terms of immediate personal advantage and not in terms of long-run public interest.

One must hasten to add that it is only natural that they should do so. The industrialist must rivet his attention on his profit-and-loss figures; the worker has to think first of all of his pay envelope. To expect them voluntarily to do anything else would be to anticipate the millennium.

But the point is that the strike, with all the waste that it involves, is simply the price we pay for the rule of individualism in our economic life.

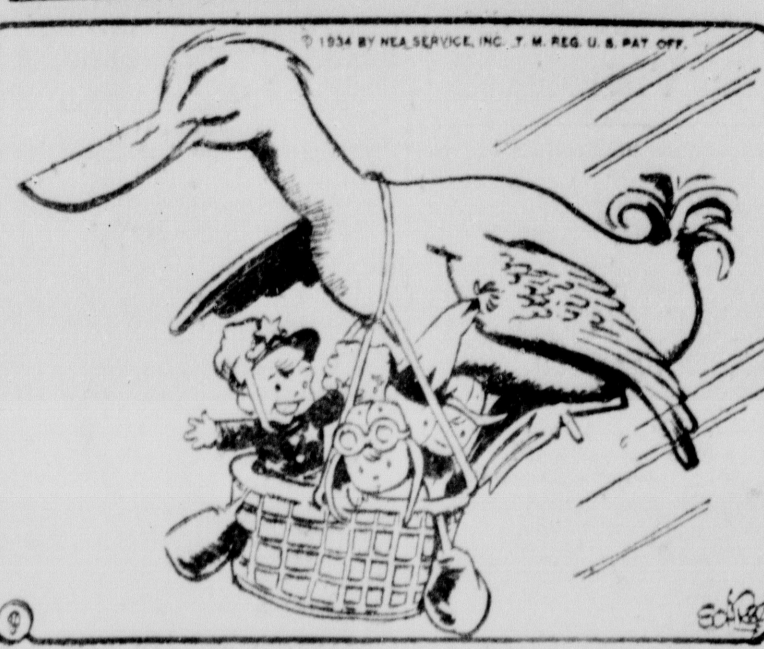

One of the things that makes us loath to realize this is the fact that when you start talking about the alternatives to industrial individualism you begin to get into deep waters. The people of America see no very good reason why they should copy either the Italian or the Russian method of handling such things.

Costly as strikes may be, most of us would prefer to put up with them rather than to get rid of them via either Communism or Fascism.

But that needn't prevent us from facing the facts. Nor need it prevent us from continuing our effort to discover whether there isn't some way of so modifying the rule of individualism that its benefits can be retained while its costly drawbacks can be discarded.

Europe is faced by a terrible alternative. Either she can achieve a minimum of political understanding, of economic collaboration, of social comprehension, or her doom is irrevocably sealed.—Premier Benito Mussolini.

Burdening people with debt is an old deal, not a new deal.—Henry Ford.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Old Mother Goose soared around and around, and as she came close to the ground she waved at all the Tines, and they smiled and waved to her.

"Twas she who treated us so grand, and brought us to this lovely land," said Goldy. "Now, I'll bet you something else soon will occur."

"Our ride with her, some weeks ago, was on a broom. I'd like to know why she now has a goose. Perhaps it is a lot more fun."

"The monstrous bird darts to from. Just watch it, now. Gee, see it go! I'll bet it is the fastest thing on wings, beneath the sun."

Just then Old Mother Hubbard said, "Well, Fido has been real well fed. I don't know how I will ever thank you for that piece of beef."

"My hound was hungry — almost sick. He gobbled up the meat real quick. To know that he is better, now, is quite a big relief."

"We're glad we had a chance to lend a hand. You always can depend on all of us," we Coppy said, "to do the best we can."

And then he shouted, "Oh, look there! That goose is dropping out from the air." The goose then landed safely, and to him the Tines ran.

Kind Mother Goose cried, "Well, I hope that you have had lots of fun in Mother Goose land. You have seen all there is to see."

"I'm going to let my goose take you to some place where there is something new." "How can he take us?" Goldy said. "I'm puzzled as can be."

"I have a basket you can use, and since there is no time to lose, I'll run and get it. It is at my house," came the quick reply.

The basket soon was fastened tight, and everything seemed quite all right. The Tines climbed in and all were set to sail forth in the sky.

(The Tines land in a strange place in the next story.)

the world unseen, and in a thousand tender ways weaves a thread uniting us with one vast life that lives and cannot die. It makes the unseen real, near and home-like.

Out of sorrows such as these was born the high, heroic faith of our race that "life is ever lord of death and love can never lose its own." So let us live and believe till the falling daylight hides us.

Living Our Everyday Lives

BITTER-SWEET

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton.

"How can I bear it?" asks a bereaved reader. "The sunshine is a pain; my heart aches to hear the birds sing; my tears blind me to the beauty of the day, like a splash of rain on the window pane."

"The soul of the garden has fled because my husband loved it. So the bulbs he planted are there, and the birds he loved, and the seat he fashioned in the leafy shade where we sat together and read."

But wait a moment—do not flee the place so dear to both of you for twenty years. Or if you go away for a while till bitter grief is done when you return lovely memories will bless and comfort you.

Long years of perfect happiness you have had—do they count for nothing now they are sped? What we have had is still ours, if we keep it; even death cannot rob us of our treasure of memory and love.

Just think how many women would be glad to have one year of such joy before they are dead, but they have little hope of it. Some day, remembering and giving thanks, you will smile where you despaired.

"It is too much for me," writes a broken hearted mother. "My little girl was only nineteen, just married, and so happy—now she is gone. She was my pal, closer to me than any other human being."

Ah, yes; nothing in life is more awful than the deep stab of love and death, and the desolation that follows. No solitude is more appalling than the still loneliness which death makes when it passes by.

Since ever the world began this cry of pain and sorrow, softened by a sob, and at last subdued to a sigh, has followed the evening sun around the earth—it must make even the heart of God ache.

Yet it does somehow, tie us to

TUBERCULIN TESTING

In recent years and in many communities throughout the United States, tuberculin testing of large groups of children and young persons has been carried on.

Properly understood, this tuberculin testing is a census-taking of the enemy for, as we discover the cases that respond positively to the tuberculin test, we gain something of an idea of how widespread tuberculosis infection is.

The results of these mass testings have differed widely. Some communities, like Philadelphia, show that tuberculosis infection is very widespread among the young. Other communities, particularly those in the west and middle west, reveal that among their young tuberculosis infection is relatively rare.

Of course the picture has been complicated by the fact that the testing has not been conducted on a strictly comparable basis. Not all communities use the same test.

Even so, it is of value to know how widespread tuberculosis infection is, and it is also important to know if and when an individual has become infected with the germ of tuberculosis.

The value of this knowledge lies in this: for one thing, it counsels caution. The child that has been infected with tuberculosis needs even more care than the uninfected child. Secondly, when a child

"Shoot to Kill!" Guardsmen Ordered

"Shoot to kill! Any man who fires a shot into the air will be court-martialed." This was the edict of Col. R. E. Mitchell, shown seated, as he conferred with California National Guard officers, detailed to duty in the San Francisco dock strike riots, after two men had been killed and many wounded in the clashes of rioters and police. With the Colonel here in conference are shown Maj. George N. Browning, left, and Maj. John L. Farley.

has been found to be infected, it is important to search for the source of infection. This search may lead to the discovery of an active case of actual tuberculosis within the family.

It is important to bear in mind that a person reacting positively to a tuberculin test is not necessarily sick with tuberculosis. The test as such, when positive, simply means that the body has been invaded by the tubercle bacillus. Whether the germ has caused actual disease must be determined by further X-ray and clinical study.

First Ornamental Jewelry

There is little doubt that the custom of wearing precious stones in rings, and the charms worn as pendants to watch chains, originated in the amulet and talisman of old which possessed some magical and mysterious virtue against evil.

LOOK AT BRAKES AND BODIES.

NOW THAT PRICES ARE ALL THE SAME

TODAY, MOST PEOPLE KNOW that the prices of "All Three" low-priced cars are pretty much alike.

Models may differ a few dollars... but it's safe to say that a Plymouth Special Six, delivered at your door, costs about the same as the comparable model of either of Plymouth's two competitors.

So when you look at "All Three" today... there's only one thing to think about... WHICH IS THE BEST CAR—WHICH GIVES YOU THE MOST FOR YOUR MONEY? We'll admit "All Three" are good automobiles. But before you buy any, consider these things:

When you step on the brake, will that car stop dead in its tracks? When your wife and children drive away, will you know they are safe, in a body of steel reinforced with steel?

Even if Plymouth COST MORE, which it probably doesn't, it would be worth it. The Special Six has Hydraulic Brakes, Safety-Steel Body, and the same Individual Wheel Springing that is used on the most expensive cars for a more comfortable back-seat ride. It has Floating Power to end vibration.

It has the luxuries that make you proud to own a car. Yet its price is right in line with comparable models of its two biggest competitors.

Look at the prices on the right. See the car at any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer. Then decide.

FANS ARE AGOG AWAITING STAR GAME TOMORROW

Polo Grounds Will Be Packed to Capacity:
Over Radio, Too

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)
New York, July 9 — (AP)—Shelving for a day the strife and strain of the major league pennant races, all-star teams of the American and National Leagues will take the field tomorrow at the Polo Ground for the sake of charity and the fulfillment of the baseball fan's mid-summer day dream.

The National League park is expected to be jammed to its capacity of 33,602 customers, paying from 55 cents to $2.20 to witness the all-star spectacle, and contributing thereby to a "gate" of nearly $50,000 for the benefit of the player's benevolent fund. The game is scheduled at 11:30 A. M. (CST) and will be broadcast over NBC and CBS networks.

It may seem like just another afternoon's chore to the players themselves, hand-picked in keeping with most of fandom's preference, but to the baseball-following public at large it is the most glamorous one-day show of the entire year, bringing together the satellites whose names take the headlines or top those indispensable columns of statistics daily from April to October.

The Big Questions
How will Carl Hubbell, ace south paw of the world champion Giants, fare against a batting order topped by Charley Gehring, Heinie Manush, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, with Frank Higgins, Al Simmons, Joe Cronin and Bill Dickey bringing up the rear guard of sluggers? Can Lefty Gomez, the American League's foremost finger baffle, lineup headed by Frankie Frisch, Pie Traynor, Joe Medwick or Chuck Klein, Wally Berger, Kiki Cuyler or Mel Ott, Bill Terry, Travis Jackson and Gabby Hartnett or Al Lopez?

These are questions that may be answered at the outset for Gomez and Hubbell have been nominated to start the game. It will be the first time the two most talked-of southpaws in baseball have opposed each other, with the Yankee star matching his great speed ball against the more subtle offering including the famous "screw ball" of the Giant ace.

Last Games Not Hot
On the basis of their last performances, on Saturday, neither Gomez nor Hubbell may be the "ball of fire" that their followers anticipate. Fortunately for the Americans, the Yankee southpaw was hit on the right elbow instead of the left arm in the accident that marked his winning, though not too impressive, effort against the Senators. On the same afternoon, the Brooklyn Dodgers chased Hubbell from the box with some lusty hitting.

Terry, the playing pilot of the Nationals and the only portside batter in the probable starting lineup against Gomez, expects to use most if not all four of his right-handers. In the order in which they may appear they are: Lon Warneke, Dizzy Dean, Van Mungo, and Fred Frankhouse. Cronin's pitching alternates, also entirely right-handed, are: Ruffing, Mel Harder, Tommy Bridges and Jack Russell.

Many Replacements
Because of the desire to let all 20 men on each side see some action, even if only as a pinch hitter there will be frequent changes. Cronin has Mickey Cochrane and Rick Ferrell to substitute for Dickey behind the bat, Jimmy Foxx and Jimmy Dykes as infield replacements, with Sam West, Earl Averill and Ben Chapman for outfield duty. Terry's reserves include Floyd Vaughan, Pepper Martin and Bill Herman, infielders, and Paul Wacker, outfielder. Vaughan may start in the event Jackson's live still handicaps him. The veteran Giant infielder is suffering from a stye or some other infection.

Although the American Leagues because of their more imposing batting records are the betting favorites to make it two in a row in this all-star debate, the Nationals look for Terry's luck and skill to square accounts.

GREATEST FREE- STYLE SWIMMERS TO TOUR ORIENT

Jack Medica, New Champ
Included in Team to Compete in Japan

Chicago, July 9 — (AP)— Jack Medica, America's greatest free-style swimmer, probably will run into an opportunity to learn just how good he is in the near future, against the Japanese stars who dominated the aquatic division of the last Olympic games.

Medica, University of Washington sophomore who collected the bulk of honors in the National A. U. championship meet which closed yesterday, Arthur Highland of Northwestern University, and Albert Vande Weghe of the Newark, N. J. A. C. have been chosen tentatively as Uncle Sam's representatives for a tour of Japan and the Orient, late this month or early in August. Confirmation of the tour by the Japanese amateur association is expected soon.

Took Three Titles
Medica demonstrated his superiority last week, when he swam off with three national titles—440 yard, 880 yard and one mile—with the greatest of ease.

Outclassing his chief rival, Ralph Planagan of Miami, Fla., Medica swam the mile in 20:57.8, nine seconds faster than the official world record set in 1925 by Arne Borg of Sweden.

In the 440, he was about two seconds under Johnny Weissmuller's American long course record, with a 4:50.9 performance. Yesterday, he won the half mile and missed equalling his own world record by seven-tenths of a second in 10:15.3.

Highland won the 100 meters free-style title and Vande Weghe accounted for the 100 meters backstroke championship. John Higgins of the Olney Boys Club, Providence, R. I., won the 220 yard breaststroke and set a new American record of 2:55, and the Lake Shore A. C. medley relay team of Adolph Kiefer, Max Brendel and Highland broke the American record with a 3:32.7 performance.

ATHLETICS ARE IN NEED OF ONE OR TWO BOXMEN

Home Runs by Foxx and Johnson are of
No Avail

By Herbert W. Barker
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)
Jimmie Foxx and Bob Johnson hit home runs but the Philadelphia Athletics steadily are losing ball games, more proof, were any needed, that major league pennants can't be won without pitchers.

Foxx went into the lead in the home run derby by clouting Nos. 25 and 26 and Johnson boosted his total to 25 yesterday while the Athletics dropped two games to the Boston Red Sox and fell a bit deeper into seventh place in the American League. The twin Athletic sluggers picked the first game for their home run show but Boston won the game easily, 7-4, although outlived, 12 to 7, Bill Dietrich pitching for the A's allowed only seven hits but walked nine men and hit one. The second game was a 7-2 romp for the third place Red Sox.

Standing Unchanged
There was no change in the relative standings of the two leaders, the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers, both of whom won. Celebrating his 21st year in the game, Babe Ruth drove in four runs with his 13th homer and a double as the Yankees topped the Washington Senators, 6-3. Two costly errors by Oscar Melillo, two singles and a pass with the bases filled, gave Detroit three runs in the ninth and a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Browns thus keeping the Tigers within half a game of the Yankees.

Consolidating their hold on 4th place, the Cleveland Indians won their first double-header of the year, beating the Chicago White Sox, 5-1 and 10-5, behind Willis Hudlin and Monte Pearson.

Pred Fitzsimmons pitched the New York Giants to a 2-0 shutout victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers, thus boosting the Terymen's National League lead to two games over the Chicago Cubs.

Trounced 11-4 in the first game, the Cubs came back with a 16-hit barrage in the nightcap that earned for them a 12-3 decision over the fourth place Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dizzy Dean fanned 10 men as the St. Louis Cardinals stopped Cincinnati, 6-1, in the first game of a twin bill, but brother Paul was soundly shelled in the second, 8-4.

Ebel Moore, up from Baltimore, made an auspicious debut as he pitched the Phillies to a 5-3 decision over the Boston Braves.

First Sabbath Card of Soft Ball Games Entertained 750

Soft ball teams from three states, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois went into action at the Airport field Sunday evening in the first of a series of Sunday night games to be played throughout the summer. In each instance the team from the visiting state was victorious and a crowd of about 750 people were entertained.

The opening game saw Wink's Specials of this city opposing the Beloit Hi-Y organization of colored players. Fordham for the Specials lasted until the third inning when he was sent to the bench and Traeber, an importation from LaSalle, went to the mound and finished. The Beloit team had to overcome a three run lead chalked up by the Specials in the first inning but won easily by a final count of 13 to 4.

The feature attraction of the evening saw the Beloit Bakers opposing Oak Grove Dairy team from Clinton, Iowa, leaders of the city league of that place. The fans were given an exhibition of clever soft ball on the part of the visiting organization which has been defeated but once this season. Mienke, imported to pitch for the Bakers, was driven from the mound in the third inning after Clinton had piled up an eight run lead and Edgar Clark took over the duties and finished the game. Four runs were added to Clinton's score while Clark pitched. Costly errors on the part of the Bakers were responsible for several of the runs scored by the opposition and both the local pitchers received ragged support. K. Schaley pitched the rout for the visitors and allowed but six hits which were good for five runs. Kehrt registered two doubles and Lebre a triple to lead the hitting for Dixon.

A double attraction has been scheduled to be played at the Airport field next Sunday evening. The feature game will bring the Glasgow Tailors of Clinton, Iowa, to Dixon to oppose the Brown Shoe Co. team. As an added attraction two girls' teams from

CHAMPION THREE- YEAR-OLD TO BE NAMED SATURDAY

Greatest Horses Will Meet in Arlington Classic Then

Chicago, July 9 — (AP)— The three-year-old championship of the American turf will be decided beyond all question of a doubt, if any exists, with the seventh running of the $45,000 Arlington Classic at Arlington park next Saturday.

The prospective field shaped up today with twelve starters, but with the "big four" naturally dominating for the mile and a quarter test. They are:

Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Cavalcade, winner of the Kentucky Derby, American Derby, Detroit Derby and Chesapeake Stakes, and second, beaten by a nose, by his stablemate, High Quest, in the Preakness.

Joseph B. Widener's Peace Chance, winner of the Belmont Stakes in the fastest time in the history of the mile and a half race. Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Discovery, victorious in the Brooklyn Handicap, and second in the Kentucky Derby, American Derby, and third in the Chesapeake Stakes and Preakness.

Mrs. Sloane's other three-year-old star, High Quest, winner of the Preakness, Wood Memorial Stakes and second in the Belmont.

The other starters possibly will be Gallant Mac, Riskulus, Flight, Howard, Thomasville, New Deal, Rose Cross and Patch-Pockets.

The game little filly, Mata Hari, which challenged Cavalcade three times this year will probably be among the missing when the star colts line up for the classic.

For the last six years the Arlington Classic has decided the three-year-old championship, except possibly the year when A. C. Bostwick's Mate beat Twenty Grand, and the argument as to the merits of those two colts as three-year-olds is still raging.

SCIENTISTS DIS- AGREE OVER STAT- US OF TWO GIRLS

Siamese Twins' Duality or Individuality is Puzzle

New York, July 9.—(AP)—In justifiable bewilderment, New York officials are mopping their brows over the disturbing case of Maurice Lambert and Violet Hilton, the Siamese twins, who want to get married.

Even science, enlisted today to clarify the questions concerning the duality or individuality of Siamese twins, was slightly non-plussed.

Now it is widely known that Violet and Lambert were refused a marriage license on the ground that such a union would be immoral; that counsel for Violet does not consider this reasoning logical and is trying to force issuance of the license.

Perplexing questions beset hirings of the city clerk's office when Lambert and Violet, and of course, Daisy, her conjoined twin, applied for the paper.

Were the sisters, who entertain theater audiences with synchronized song and saxophone-toting, really just one person? How about bigamy?

Scientists Disagree
Several scientists—geneticists and comparative anatomists—were asked today for their views on the matter. Said Dr. H. L. Shapiro, of the American Museum of Natural History:

"In my opinion, Siamese twins are two persons. The strongest basis for this conclusion rests on the fact that they reason and think differently."

A geneticist, who preferred to remain anonymous, explained that if one goes back into the embryology of conjoined twins one finds a single individual. Siamese twins, he pointed out, result from the incomplete fusion, or division, of one germ cell.

Still another scientist, whose field is comparative anatomy, thought that the possession of individual tastes and mental processes by united twins make them two persons.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH ITEMS
Bible school attendance yesterday was 318. The adult classes made the following attendance record: Upstreamers 42; Men 42; Philohas 38; Young Men 25; True Blue 23 Young People 11.

The Young Men's Class will enjoy a ball game this evening at 5:30 at Lowell Park after which they will celebrate the recent attendance contest with a picnic supper followed by the monthly business meeting.

The Men's Class will have a picnic supper Tuesday evening at Lowell Park. Fred Barnhizer is host and the wives of the men are to be guests.

Wednesday evening prayer service and Bible study at 30. Read 1 Cor. 8, 9 and 10.

The Upstreamers Class will have their meeting Thursday evening with a picnic supper at the country home of Mrs. Ivan Floto. Cars leave church at 6 o'clock.

The Young People's Class of the church will hold their meeting on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Clayton. Cars leave the church at 6:00.

Five of our young people: John Orgtessen, Roy Flamingham, Nadine Padgett, Evelyn Schumacher and Genevieve Reitzel returned Sunday evening from the Advanced Young People's Conference at Eureka. Marcella Bennett and Dorothy Stauffer left Sunday afternoon to attend the High School Age Conference which convenes this week.

The Board has called a special election of the congregation for next Sunday at the close of the church service for the purpose of electing one elder and one deacon.

The attendance at the Union Service at the First Presbyterian church last evening was good. The service next Sunday evening will be at the Church of God with Dr. J. Frank Young as preacher.

In case of death by auto accident, your estate will receive $10,000. If you have one of the Dixon Evening Telegraph's Accident Insurance Policies that costs you but $140 a year to carry.

CLOWNS COMING TO DIXON SOON HAVE ALL TRICKS

Schell Brothers' Fun
Makers Wise at Provoking Laughs

Common belief that the circus clown's mission is merely to amuse the youngsters is belied by the word of most clowns in the big traveling shows of today.

As a knight-errant of fun, getting as much pleasure out of a wise-crack as his audience, he observes no distinctions of class or age during performances.

No one is too old to escape his gibes, or too young to understand them; he will break through the gravity of a judge, sometimes to uncover facial expressions of glee that were never known to exist there before.

A circus would be regarded as an improbable place to find trained psychologists, putting the science into action, but that is the business of the more than 20 clowns who are to perform with the Schell Brothers Circus here Wednesday, July 18 afternoon and night, on the lot west of the Borden Company plant.

Clowns know there is a laugh stowed away somewhere behind the mask of every person's face and he knows the secret of stalking it out in the open.

KID CHOCOLATE WILL TRY COME- BACK WEDNES.

Former Champion of Featherweights to Meet Pete Hayes

New York, July 9.—(AP)—Just how far Kid Chocolate can progress on the comeback trail may be shown this week.

The Cuban, knocked out by Frankie Klock and Tony Canzone stripped of his featherweight title claims and apparently all through last summer, has been fighting his way back into condition the past month or so. The most important test of his bid to regain his former prestige takes him against Pete Hayes, flashy New York featherweight, in a ten round bout in Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn Wednesday night at 7:30. The attendance for the year has averaged about 35, and a real blessing comes to those who attend. All are welcome to attend.

Next Sunday night a very interesting and unique service is being planned in which twenty boys and girls will give an exercise called, "Mother Goose and Her Missionary Family." The boys and girls having a part in this service will please meet at the church for practice next Saturday afternoon at 1:30.

Otherwise the national boxing program is marked by another non-title engagement for Maxey Rosenberg, light heavyweight champion. Maxey will meet Lee Ramagie, San Diego heavyweight, at Los Angeles tomorrow night. Lou Brouillard of Worcester, Mass. former welterweight champion, meet Al Gainer, New Haven light heavyweight in Gainer's home town Thursday.

Famed Novelist
Fights Film Suit

Atlanta, July 9.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, the recent heavyweight champion of the world, passed through Atlanta this week and with the story—and he stuck to it—that he was enroute from New York to Maine.

Primo arrived Saturday. When he left yesterday afternoon his 16-cylinder car was headed toward Florida—despite his repeated assertions that he was going to Maine.

The one-time champion was extremely reticent for a while when he was found in a hotel comfortably propped up in a chair.

Why had Primo suddenly left New York and stopped in Atlanta? "Why make such a fuss over Primo?" he parried. "I just visit my friends in Atlanta and the south."

"You have been to Florida?" "No, no," Carnera said. "I go to Maine tonight."

"Not going to Florida, then?" "No, no," Carnera said. "I go to Maine tonight."

Producers claimed a single sale agreement gave them all film rights.

Harold Bell Wright is more often read than seen, but the famous novelist made this appearance in Los Angeles court to contend, in a motion picture suit, that he should have extra compensation for one of his novels produced as a talkie.

Producers claimed a single sale agreement gave them all film rights.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE TERRY comes to New York determined to show her home town and especially AMY JACKSON that she can make a success of her life. She had been her best friend until HOWARD JACKSON broke the engagement Jane forced on him and married Amy. Unable to bear the sight of Amy's happiness, Jane obtains a job in a New York real estate office.

Jane is clever and soon is making an excellent salary. She has an affair with ROGER THORPE, a business acquaintance who is married. Later she tires of him, and when he offers to bear the expense of their child she dismisses him contemptuously.

In her desperate plight Jane turns to Amy for help. Howard is touring Germany with another professor and Amy comes to New York. She is horrified when Jane tells her she plans to give her child away.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVI

AMY'S voice was reproachful. "But a helpless child, Jane, who didn't ask to be born—"

"None of us asked to be born," Jane answered. "I wish to heaven I'd never been. I wish I were dead. I've wished it a thousand times—ever since—"

"But Jane, this man. Hasn't he any decent feeling? He ought to be looking out for you. Doesn't he care? Don't you care anything about him?"

"No, I don't. I even loathe the thought of him."

Amy knew Jane was speaking the truth. "But you must have loved him," she persisted. "After all, you couldn't have lived with him without caring something about him, at first, anyway."

"I loved Howard," said Jane dully. "This man was exciting, he flattered me and made love to me and I met him half-way. If you want to know, Oh, you can look at me, Amy, and be horrified, but I don't see why women shouldn't have affairs like men, and think no more about it. There's no reason why not. Is there, honestly?"

"I don't know that there is, only I can't think so. It's one of the things that sound all right, but never work out."

"I can see that last pretty plain myself, now. But I did love Howard, Amy, and after I knew he didn't love me—can't you understand, this other man going so crazy about me made me feel better, made me like myself again when I'd been hating myself. I was awful to you about Howard, Amy. But you knew it was because it hit me so hard."

"Yes, I did know. Jane—I'm so sorry."

"There's no use being sorry. We won't drag that stuff out again. You're going to stay with me, aren't you, Amy?"

"YES," said Amy, "I'm going to stay. I'll send Mother a telegram. I'll have to get my bag. It's checked at the station. And I ought to cancel my Pullman."

"And have your ticket extended. I'll send the maid. She's smart—too smart sometimes. You don't want to go out in this heat again. Jane had become normal, practical. She sat down at her desk, wrote directions, addresses, then rang for the maid and started her off. Emma, what sort of a man he might be,

Kitty's successor, was another West Indian, quiet and intelligent.

Amy took off her hat, washed her face and hands and tried to compass the utter strangeness of the situation. This was so difficult that she retreated to trivialities. She found herself telling Jane scraps of Marburg news, Vanny Hough's new car, Louise March's marriage to a man from Chicago.

Henry Berwyn's accident in his boat, Edgar Moreland's engagement to a girl who had visited the Pattersons.

"That's funny," said Jane, who had been listening with scant interest. "I never thought Edgar would care about any girl but you. The boys all liked you, Amy. You were far and away the most popular girl in town."

"Whatever that may mean. Edgar wasn't serious about me. It was just that we'd known each other all our lives."

"I don't believe anybody really loves more than once," went on Jane. "Do you?"

"I don't know what I believe about love—except that it's the only miracle we ever know. Nothing else explains it."

She stopped, embarrassed by speaking out a secret thought. They mustn't talk like this. She looked about the apartment. "This is a very queer place, Jane," she continued. "I thought you told me last year that you had grass cloth on the walls."

"Oh, I took that off when I went Spanish. You don't like this?"

"I'm not sure. I never saw anything like it before."

"I know," said Jane, rallying. "You don't think any place can be lived in if there's no piano. I'll rent one for you while you're here."

"Oh, mercy, don't think of it. Goodness only knows what it would cost."

"I can afford it," said Jane cockily. "I've made heaps of money. I invested the money my father left in Aunt Rosa's trust and more than doubled it."

For the first time since she had entered the house Amy laughed. "That sounds like the old Jane, indeed it does."

"Bragging, you mean," Jane laughed a little, too. "But Amy, it's true. I have made a lot of money and I'll make a lot more once I get out of this mess. You know I was always clever about money. I'll telephone for a piano. They can bring it in the morning and then you can play as much as you want. There's nothing else to do while we're waiting."

It was not until late that night, after Amy had gone to bed on the Spanish couch and was lying there kept awake by the unaccountable place and noise, that it occurred to her that Jane had never once asked her to keep her secret.

This confidence touched Amy profoundly. "She knows I'd never tell," she thought. "But I'm awful glad she didn't ask me not to. It makes everything better between us."

She wondered about Thorpe, what sort of a man he might be,

and she thought, with humility and thankfulness of her own marriage, and of Howard, and their happiness, their content together. She remembered what she had said to Jane—"I only wish this was my child!" A child was the only thing that could add to her and to Howard's life.

"I must persuade Jane not to send her away to be adopted," she thought. "That would be a lot more wicked than just having it."

It was as easy as Jane had said. Amy soon found, to arrange to stay. Mrs. Lowe was willing to look after Amy's house and promptly sent on a supply of clothes, with a letter saying, "Stay as long as you like and have a good time. It will keep you from missing Howard so much. Indeed, I don't see why you shouldn't stay until he comes back if you want to, though I don't know to what lengths Jane's hospitality will run. Remember me to her."

Amy handed the letter to Jane to read. "Your mother's a grand person," said Jane. "She never was one of the Marburg whispering gallery. But even she wouldn't be so willing to have you stay if she knew about me. She never liked me much."

"We don't need to play truth every minute," said Amy, "but I'll go on with it to the extent of reminding you, Miss Jane, that you never tried very hard to make yourself liked. You were the one who 'always does it to annoy because you know it teases.'"

"I suppose I was. It seems a long time ago in another world, another age. I feel so old, Amy. Old and hideous under a bad spell."

"Lie down and I'll play to you." For the piano had come and was a great resource. Amy played or practiced when she did not feel like talking. The days were too hot to go out in. Emma marketed and cooked and Amy and Jane lived quiet and withdrawn in the semi-darkness of the apartment, with nothing to do except try to keep cool. Because Amy insisted, Jane bought a few infants' clothes, and also consulted a doctor. She knew of no one in particular, so they chose the nearest, a man with an office at the corner. He seemed sensible and capable, but very detached and professional, his interest for the case, not the human being. Jane's unmarried state did not seem to surprise him, but he did raise his voice in protest when she said she would not go to a hospital. Amy listened to the dispute between Doctor Lacey and Jane with mingled anxiety and amusement, for each was obstinacy to the hilt. In the end Jane won out and Doctor Lacey reluctantly said he would attend her in her home.

"I'll send you a nurse when it's time for you to have one," he said firmly.

And just as firmly Jane replied: "You can send a nurse when I ask for one, and not before."

"You're running a serious risk," he warned her.

"It's my risk," she said. (Copyright, 1934, by Sophie Kerr) (To Be Continued.)
